THOUGHT and COMMENT

Women Drivers

The female of the species who drives an automobile in California is not more deadly than the male despite Kipling's findings.

Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles today pointed to his records to prove that women drivers have fewer serious accidents and are more careful than men.

Neither is the urge for speed as prevalent among women, Marsh finds, notwithstanding all that has been said and written about jazzmania and the tendencies of the present generation to live at a fast pace.

Women are naturally more cautious," said the motor vehicle chief, "they make up for their lack of knowledge about motors taking fewer chances and if they don't always give the correct hand signal at least they give some sort of signal which is more than hundreds of men do."

"They are more careful at crossings and have more respect for dangerous curves. In short they display more horse-sense on the average than men."

The number of women driving is increasing at a fast rate, Marsh added. Although only about 15 percent of all California drivers are women, nearly one third of the applications for drivers' licenses received this year are from women.

Disregard of Wig Wags to Cost $5

A fine of $5.00 will be levied against the person or persons who cross the Bay Point railway crossings disregarding the wig wag signals, Justice A. W. Smith, of Bay Point has announced. The traffic officers at the dangerous crossings are doing their best to enforce the ordinance prohibiting motorists to cross while the signals are in operation and there is no excuse for the drivers to disregard the signals, the officers and the law be states.

In some cases the offense will carry a heavy fine and perhaps a jail sentence.

Award Contract To Raise Craft

The Merritt-Chapman-Scott company has been awarded the contract for the raising and delivery to a San Francisco dry-dock of the Shell Oil tank barge Martinez sunk in the Racon straits two weeks ago when the craft rammed the Associated Oil tanker, "Frank G. Drum". The corporation offered a conditional bid of $40,000. The Martinez had in its tanks about 13,000 gallons of oil. Divers who have been sent down to examine the wreck, report that the stern is embedded in twenty feet of silt.

REVOLUTION IS THREATENED IN POLAND BY GEN. J. P. LUSDSKI

Move Is Believed to be Attempt To Establish Government Pat- terned After Italy

(By Universal Service)
KATIN, May 12.—Marshal Jozef Pilsudski, former Commander-in-Chief of the Polish Army and Poland's popular hero, entered Warsaw, the capital, tonight at the head of revolting Polish troops for the purpose, it is believed, of overthrowing the government of the newly named Premier Witos and establishing a dictatorship.

With his former regiment and detachments of Uhlans and Dragoons Marshal Pilsudski crossed the bridge over the river from Praga, a suburb of Warsaw, and entered the capital this evening, according to latest advices from Warsaw.

Loyal government troops sent against him were withdrawn by the government.

Shortly before eight o'clock tonight all communications with Warsaw were interrupted.

Pilsudski comes from the ranks of the Socialists, the same as Premier Mussolini of Italy, but reports from Warsaw do not make it clear whether the dictatorship he seeks to establish has the support of the Fascist and Monarchists, or of the radical Socialists and Communists.

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—Airplanes of the U. S. Government are the latest weapons of warfare on the Malaria bearing mosquito the state board of Health was advised today in a federal report. Spend of malaria in Louisiana, where the government experiments are being conducted, has been materially decreased by "aerial bombing" of the breeding places of mosquitoes.

The report said each plane used in the anti-mosquito war is equipped with 300 pounds of Paris Green which proves an effective larvicide.

Harbor Status May Be Decided Tonight

A final decision on the proposed leasing of the municipal wharf and adjoining lands to the Parr Terminal company of Oakland will be attempted tonight when members of the harbor committee of the city council and the chamber of commerce meet to inspect the details of the proposed leased as prepared by City Attorney T. A. Carlson and attorneys for the terminal company.

Officials of the city feel that too much time has already expired and are anxious that something definite in regard to the lease be accomplished soon.

"We have spent several months discussing the situation," declared Mayor W. W. Scott, "and should be able now to decide what we want to do. We should have enough details for the meeting tonight to make a fair decision in the matter."

The results of the meeting will be submitted to Parr and a final meeting will be arranged with the terminal company to conclude negotiations.

BUILDING FOR DAY IS $11,600 OFFICIALS LAUD NATATORIUM

Three building permits totaling $11,600 were issued yesterday by the City Building Inspector E. E. Groves. The City of Richmond secured a permit for the improvements now being made at the municipal natatorium. Additional lockers will furnish accommodations for 338 additional bathers. The cost of the improvements which are being made under the supervision of City Manager James A. McVittie will amount to $4,500. The lockers are being installed on the balcony of the natatorium. The large crowds patronizing the natatorium made the improvements necessary.

James Lima and John Peters were issued a permit to remodel the point theatre on the north side of Richmond avenue between Park Place and Railroad avenue. The cost of the improvements will amount to $3,500 and M. J. Biddle is the contractor.

A permit was issued to G. J. Gordon to erect a one-story cottage and garage on the east side of Twenty-second street between Nevin and Barrett avenues. The contractor for the work is S. B. Robertson.

NORGE CONTINUES ON FLIGHT TO NOME

NOME PREPARES FOR EXPLORERS

(By Universal Service)
NOME, ALASKA, May 12.—The inhabitants in this far north city are feverishly awaiting the arrival of Amundsen in his dirigible Norge, who left King's Bay, Spitsbergen yesterday morning and sailed over the North Pole early this morning.

The Norge is expected to arrive here tomorrow. Weather conditions are excellent. A landing field has been prepared one mile north of the city. Cables at four corners of the field will assure a safe landing and anchorage for the Norge.

Amundsen wired from Spitsbergen to Ralph Lomen, Norwegian vice-counsel here, to have 100 men in units of ten men each ready to handle the ropes which he will lower from his craft as he approaches the field.

Amundsen will communicate with Lomen from the Norge as soon as he gets within radio range of this city.

The town is gaily decorated and reception committees have been appointed to entertain the intrepid air navigators upon their arrival.

Nicholl Donated Memorial Park Gate

The gate being erected as a memorial to the late John Nicholl, founder of Richmond, at the entrance to Nicholl park on Macdonald avenue, is the gift to the city of Miss Mary Nicholl, president of the John Nicholl company and is not being built from only funds.

Numerous inquiries have been made to the office of the City Engineer E. A. Hoffman, in regard to the building of this gateway, which is nearing completion and many are under the impression that the city is expending funds for the purpose.

The rough work on the three concrete sections of the gateway has been completed and the ornamental work and finishing is expected to be started soon.

ENTIRE GERMAN CABINET QUILTS AFTER BATTLE OVER COLORS

Lack of Confidence Vote of the Reichstag Results in The Cabinet Resignations

(By Universal Service)
BERLIN, May 12.—The German cabinet, headed by Chancellor Luther, resigned this evening, following a vote of lack of confidence by the Reichstag, 176 to 146.

The motion of censure was introduced by the Democrats, who were incensed by President Von Hindenburg's order to German embassies and consulates abroad to fly the old imperial colors alongside those of the German Republic.

While the vote of no confidence was a fling by the Reichstag at Herr Luther, whom the Democrats considered responsible for President Von Hindenburg's flag order, the whole cabinet, outside the Democrats, decided to resign with the chancellor. The Democratic members of the cabinet turned in their portfolios last night.

LONDON, May 12.—Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister, emerged from the British National crisis with his reputation enormously enhanced.

Soundings of opinions in the lobbies of the House of Commons and the political crisis tonight disclosed that all parties are voicing tremendous admiration for the way in which he handled the situation.

The Prime Minister, it was said on all sides, showed great firmness when confronted with the general strike threat, but as soon as peace loomed up he was big enough not to wish to carry on a winning fight merely in order (Continued on page 4)

LONDON, May 12.—The trades union congress thought it could bring England to its knees.

It has done so, but it is to the knees of God. After all, God is only goodness, and goodness is only character, and character is only commonsense. If the labor members of parliament only realized it, they have won. They've beaten their extremists and brought matters back to the House of Commons, and have re-established their own supremacy.

LONDON, May 12.—Peace returned to Britain today with dramatic suddenness. The Trades Union Congress called off the general strike and Premier Baldwin has promised a temporary grant of further subsidy to the mine industry. The mine owners have withdrawn the reduced scale of wages.

The center of trouble now has definitely shifted back to the Miners' Federation whose executives met this afternoon and denounced the terms on which the general strike was called off.

A. J. Cook, secretary of the Federation, in a statement, declared that the terms accepted by the Trades Union Congress would mean that the miners would have to accept reduced pay.

The miners will hold a delegate conference Friday afternoon to reconsider the whole situation.

Noel Buxton, who was minister of agriculture in the Macdonald Labor Cabinet, tonight said to Universal Service:

"The miners cannot maintain their resistance on the Trades Union Congress and the leaders of the Labor party generally consider the arrangement satisfactory."

MORE TAXES

"Watch out for a raise in your taxes". This warning is being broadcasted to motorists by the Automobile Club of Southern California in response to many inquiries that are reaching the organization regarding the future state highway program.

The club is behind the initiative now being circulated designed to take the highways out of politics, and providing on equitable distribution of highway funds. It provides further for adequate new highway construction without increasing the taxes of the motorists. The popularity of this plan is attested by the more than 100,000 signatures that were affixed soon after it was circulated.

Now comes an initiative asking that the gasoline tax be increased by 50 per cent, the proceeds to be devoted to new highway construction by the state under the old methods of apportionment.

The gasoline tax initiative means that motorists will saddle themselves with between seven and eight million dollars additional annual taxes. California already leads every state in the union in the total of gasoline tax collected, and under the present rule this goes for widening, straightening and maintenance of roads. The motorists, under the gasoline tax initiative, is not only asked to maintain the roads, but to build them before he can use them.

Under the Automobile Club of Southern California proposed plan for the highways, annual appropriation of $5,000,000 out of the general fund will be made for new construction. This will be supplemented by $2,500,000 Federal aid. In addition to this state highway commission will have $10,000,000 for road betterment now paid by the motorist on the present two cent gas tax and three dollar license fee, or a total of $17,500,000 to spend annually on its 6,600 miles of roads which sum economists state is about all that can be handled to best advantage.

The proposed additional gas tax of one cent a gallon really means, according to the auto club, that the motorists later will be saddled with a further increase bringing the total tax to four cents a gallon or 100 per cent additional, as after each new highway is built the motorists must maintain them. The only way to maintain these roads is through the gasoline tax and registration fund so that it appears evident the motorist will bite off a huge chunk of additional expense should he favor the gasoline tax initiative that has just been placed in circulation in the northern part of the state.

ALL A MISTAKE

Governor Ritchie, the "boy orator of Maryland," was due the other day for a session with the democratic high command to give a full explanation of the conditions and circumstances which influenced him when in speaking to the democratic co-workers in Massachusetts he told them to advise the people of the state and of the nation that a vote for Walsh was a vote against Coolidge, and that they must bear that thought in mind, and emphasize it.

Even before he left Boston after having electrified and dismayed his audience with this declaration, there was a democratic lodge of sorrow held to discuss the best way out of the situation which the governor had created.

As a result the Boston "Post" editorially announced that a vote for Walsh was not a vote against Coolidge, and that it was a shame to introduce such a thought into the contest. As the "Post" editorial

PRESIDENT ADAM'S ADMINISTRATION

John Adams succeeded Washington to the presidency in 1797, and began his administration under threat of a war with France. The French were enraged because we had refused to take part in their recent contest with England.

Now they captured our merchant vessels, sold them openly in French ports, and insulted our representative to France. Certain private agents of the French authorities even made demands threatening war unless we bribed them with money to keep peace. President Adams, substituting the letters, X. Y. Z., for the names of the French agents, sent a full report of the demands to Congress. These papers roused the whole country, and the words "Millions for defence; not one cent for tribute" were echoed throughout America.

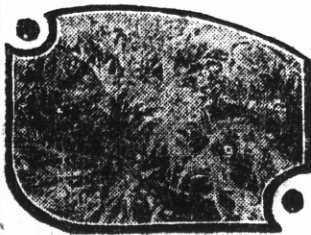

War soon broke out. Our sailors, with shout of "Hail Columbia" the new song ringing throughout the country, fought and captured several French vessels. But Napoleon Bonaparte, coming into power in France, speedily made peace.

As several of our newspapers were edited by foreigners or by men who sympathized with France and were anxious to force us into a war with England, Congress passed two laws calculated to stop their constant abuse of the government. These were the Alien and Sedition laws. The alien law gave the President the power to banish any alien or foreigner from the country whose influence he thought dangerous to our welfare. The sedition law undertook to punish persons who should speak, write or publish anything false or malicious against the President or the government of the United States. The legislatures of Kentucky and Virginia denouncing both laws as dangerous and contrary to the Constitution, declared that should the President persist in enforcing them the states would have the right to refuse to obey his commands. Both laws soon passed out of existence; but the idea that states might resist the national government, if they saw fit, was in the end to result in civil war.

XIV. CARDOON

Cardoon has long been grown by Europeans with whom it is quite a delicacy. In appearance it resembles the globe artichoke and like it also must be grown in warm climate with rich soil and plenty of moisture. The leafy stalks are the edible portions of the plant. These are blanched like celery and used in making salads, soups and stews. One variety, the Tours cardoon, has very prickly spines which make it difficult to work with, but the stalks are considered to have the best flavor, and less likely to run quickly to seed.

The seed is sown in the spring in pots under glass and when transplanted must be set some three feet apart.

Cupboard Preparedness

WHEN Old Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard, what a joy it would have been to find, upon throwing open the doors, that the shelves were well stocked with a goodly assortment of foods, neatly arranged—rows of boxes and cans and jars and bottles—as well as some bones and biscuit for the poor dog!

The modern housewife, with her supply-shelf of prepared foods, is ready for any emergency. Neither her family, her guests nor her pet Pekingese will have to go hungry on account of her temporary forgetfulness, or preoccupation with other things.

Canned foods make the emergency-shelf possible, because they keep indefinitely. To stock up with fresh foods would mean considerable loss through spoilage. The busy woman of today, with her numerous outside activities, is handicapped, indeed, if she does not have a supply-shelf well stocked with a varied assortment of prepared foods. And it has been proved an economy as well as a wonderful convenience.

More than two hundred different food products now come in ready-to-serve form. In addition to the well-known soups, fish, meats, vegetables and fruits, many combination dishes are to be had, all prepared, cooked and blended, in the convenient can. Among these are chop suey, goulash, corned beef hash, Irish stew, liver and bacon, meat loaf, chicken a la king, beefsteak and onions, and a variety of others.

LESSON IN HOME DRESSMAKING

Little Dress that the Small Child Can Wear with Comfort and Look Exceedingly Dainty

THIS design is especially appealing in its daintiness. It is gathered at the center-front and back and finished with a two-piece collar. The long sleeves are daintily cuffed and if a touch of trimming is desired, a very narrow lace edging may be added, or the collar and cuffs may be scalloped, then buttonholed.

Dress for Small Child

For six-month or year-size, the dress requires 1 1/2 yard of mainsook or handkerchief lined 36 inches wide. The front, because it has no seams, is laid along the lengthwise-fold of material. The back is placed on the selvyge.

The notches and perforations should be carefully marked, and the seams put together in their numerical order. To make the dress, close the underarm seam, then the shoulder seam. Gather neck edges, making two rows of gathers, about 1/4-inch apart and adjust stay under gathers. Sew collar to neck edge, drawing in the gathers to fit.

Next, close side seam and lap ends of wrist cuff, then sew to sleeve. Draw in gathers to fit. Sew sleeve in arm hole, holding toward you while sewing.

This model can be made within a few hours and would look dainty in crepe de Chine or chiffon with the collar, cuffs and hem hemstitched.

THE STRINGLESS BEAN

A Modern Improvement

THAT most particular of cooks, the French chef — to whom cookery is almost a sacred rite — has not been slow to take advantage of the convenience and excellent quality of stringless beans. These are merely string beans in canned form, with all the tedious stringing, cutting, and cooking expertly done in the process of canning. The French chef has found that their succulence and flavor have been perfectly preserved in the can. The mere cooking of food does not interest him. It is the flavoring, the seasoning, the dressing up, that places his work in the creative class. So, whenever possible he buys those foods that are ready-cooked, and devotes his art to fashioning them into masterpieces of epicurean delight.

The following salad was devised by a French chef of distinction:—

Heat the contents of a can of stringless beans, and drain off the liquor. While hot, pour over them two teaspoonsful of vinegar and one teaspoonful of onion-juice, with salt and pepper to taste. Let stand until cold. Just before serving, stir in three tablespoonfuls of olive oil.

When served as a vegetable, or on toast as the main dish of a meal, stringless beans are improved by the addition of a little chopped bacon. They also make an appetizing dish when served with a sour sauce, prepared thus:—Blend one tablespoon of butter with one of flour. Add one tablespoon vinegar and seasoning. Mix with the beans, heated in their own liquor. Simmer several minutes, add a well-beaten egg, and serve immediately.

Stringless beans blend well with canned tomatoes, corn or peas.

DENTAL HYGIENE

By ELIZABETH JEFFRIES

MODERN DIET HOPELESSLY WRONG, SAY DENTISTS

THE patient who nurses a swollen jaw in the dentist's outer office and, knowing that worse is to come, tries to distract his mind by reading the professional magazines that lie on the table, is not likely to have his mood improved.

Instead of contemplating complete release from his troubles after the rampant molar has been removed, he is forced to the conclusion that his troubles have just started. He discovers through his reading that he doesn't know how or what to eat!

For the professional magazines on dentistry are nowadays full of comment on what shall be done with the present generation and its ever increasing tooth troubles. The majority of these troubles they trace to faulty diet.

Nine times out of ten the swollen jaw which drives the average man in agony to the dentist, is only the red flag of trouble presaging the discovery of far greater ills. Of these ills the profession is acutely aware. The necessity for the education of the individual in the gentle art of eating the proper foods is now universally recognized.

So when National Dental Health Day comes along, it behooves everyone to take advantage of whatever information is broadcast. And National Dental Health Day is coming. The March number of the Oral Hygiene Magazine reported that at the Annual Dental Convention the American Dental Association adopted a resolution to have a National Dental Health Day.

Education of the public in nutrition and the care of the mouth will be the main objective of this annual dental red letter day.

The teeth should be thoroughly cleaned by a competent dentist. The gums should be massaged gently with the fingers, night and morning. The tooth brush cannot be so tender. Coarse foods must be eaten instead of soups and puddings and soft breads.

Do What Doctors Do

Modern doctors are prescribing a new help to millions. It is one of the marvels of modern medicine, and is doing what nothing else has done.

It is a gland secretion, derived from the liver of the ox. It stimulates the liver and at once it multiplies the flow of bile. We have learned in late years that catarrhs never do that.

This new flow of bile—a quart a day—foods the bowels, keeps them open. Thus it relieves constipation. It does this in a night.

Bile is an antiseptic. It combats intestinal germs which feed poisons to the blood. This new supply corrects countless results of blood impurities.

Bile is a digestant. It ends the bowel indigestion due to lack of bile. To nine in ten people this new help means priceless benefits. This liver gland secretion is embodied in Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents ten drops. Learn what it means to you.

"Clip this advertisement. Take it to our Special Agent, La Moine Drug Co., and he will give you a liberal sample of Dioxol free."

Fannie Hurst to Break Breakfast Rule After Eleven Years While On Tour With Her Husband

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, May 12.—Fannie Hurst has weakened a bit on her program to share only two breakfasts a week with her husband.

Sailing for Italy today on the Italian liner Conte Biancamano, the author of "Appassionata" will have at least ten breakfasts in the next ten days with her husband, Jacques Danielson, violinist, who sailed with her.

"It is Maytime," was Miss Hurst's explanation of her temporary breach of marital etiquette laid down by her eleven years ago when she compromised her vow of intention of living her own life to the extent of a unique marriage.

Once before Miss Hurst made an ocean voyage with her husband, but for six days only. The trip started today will last ten days.

"It is Maytime," she repeated whimsically, "and well—"

But when they arrive in Italy, Jacques is going direct to Vienna.

Miners Not Satisfied With Peace

word of mouth with electrifying effect. A huge crowd drawn to Whitehall by news of the reopening of negotiations cheered enthusiastically when the words "the general strike is off" were shouted from the Premier's doorway.

In London and every part of the country when the tidings were broadcast, crowds of people burst into cheering and singing the National Anthem. At the various strike headquarters and industrial centers the workers broke into labor songs of victory.

Sunshine burst over the streets of the capital during the unbroken hour and the stimulating effect of the news of the settlement was visible on the smiling faces and in the sprightly stride of the people. There was a big rush for the stores on the part of women, and shopping which had been paralyzed for ten days, was supernormal.

The restaurants and night clubs which were on the verge of closing down, were busy with guests for tables and London to-night engaged in more hectic celebrations than have been seen since the announcement of the armistice.

The conservative die-hards and the labor extremists are both claiming the victory, but going to the House of Commons shortly after the peace arrangement had been concluded, Premier Baldwin soberly deprecated any celebration by either side.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York in the Peer's gallery, rising in the cheering for the peace, Baldwin, former Premier Macdonald and J. H. Thomas, when they entered the House.

Rising in the front of the opposition bench, Macdonald asked: "Has the Prime Minister anything to announce?"

He was supported by his supporters, Premier Baldwin rose and replied: "The Trades Union Congress has called off the strike. It is a victory for the common sense of the best part of the whole United Kingdom."

"The people should look forward to putting behind them all malice and vindictiveness."

The events which led up to the dramatic settlement began today with resumed, independent meetings of the cabinet and the general council of the Trades Union Congress and miners' representatives.

Sir Herbert Samuel, chairman of the coal commission, who had been engaged in working out a peace formula satisfactory to all parties, called at number Ten, Downing street with a final draft of terms and submitted it to a cabinet committee.

This highly important document which led to the government and the Trades Union Congress delegates shaking hands two hours later, provides for:

1.—Continuation of the subsidy to the mining industry for a reasonable period.

2.—The establishment of a national body to fix wages.

3.—The establishment of a council on which the miners shall be represented to consider new legislation for the benefit of the miners.

Just before noon the full council of the Trades Union Congress headed by J. H. Thomas, Arthur Pugh, John Bromley, Ben Tillett and Margaret Bondfield, had been informed that the way was paved for a statement, left the headquarters and went to Downing street. At 12:30 they were admitted to the Prime Minister's room to meet the cabinet strike committee.

Before the brief discussion was opened, Premier Baldwin asked the council:

"Do you call off the general strike?"

Arthur Pugh, who had represented the Trades Union Congress in the negotiations with Sir Herbert Samuel, replied tersely:

"We do."

Thus the government technically maintained its determination not to resume negotiations until the strike was called off, although labor, on its side, claims that the decision was not reached by the Trades Union Congress until the mine owners had undertaken to withdraw their new wage scale.

Honor being satisfied on both sides it needed little parley between the parties before the nation was informed of the terms of the peace pact. After forty minutes of discussion Premier Baldwin sent out one of his secretaries to give the news to the world.

The communique which was penciled in the Premier's own handwriting, with words scored out and insertions interlined, was as follows:

"The Prime Minister, who was accompanied by the Minister of Labor, the secretary for India, the Minister of Health, the Secretary of war, the First Lord of the Admiralty, and the Secretary for Mines, received the members of the general council of the Trades Union Congress at 12:30 at number Ten, Downing street."

"Mr. Pugh on behalf of the Trades Union Congress announced that the general strike is being terminated today. Mr. Citrine, secretary of the Trades Union Congress, afterward made the following statement: 'In order to resume negotiations, the general council of the Trades Union Congress, has decided to terminate the general strike today and telegrams of instruction are being sent to the secretaries of all affiliated unions. The members before acting must wait for definite instructions from their own executive councils.'"

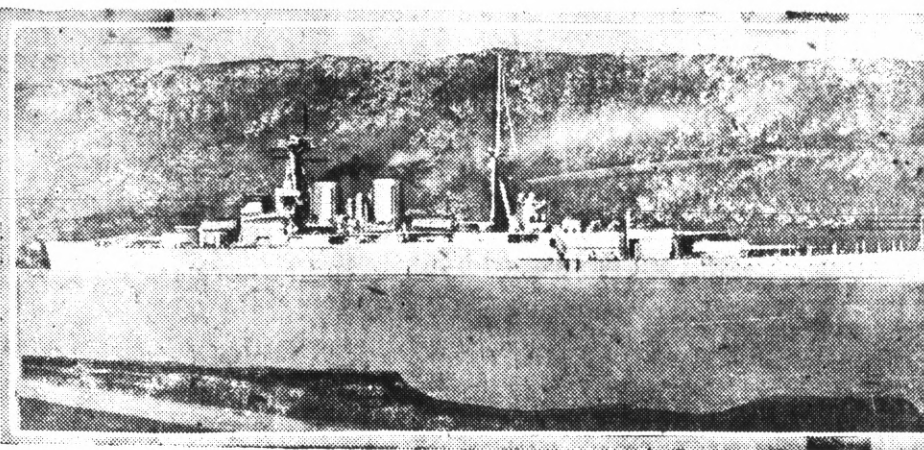

"This statement was signed by Arthur Pugh, John Bromley and W. Citrine."

The members of the general council then returned to their headquarters their released their instructions to the unions to resume work tomorrow.

The position of the printing trades is not so clear. The London newspaper publishers have determined to put up a united front against their mechanical personnel. They are unable to declare a shop because of insufficient non-union labor, but they have resolved to act as a body if any one of the newspaper's editorial staff is again interfered with by workers. Some of the important newspapers are also eager to seize the opportunity for a revision of wages and terms of employment generally.

The settlement brought great rejoicing at Buckingham Palace as it accorded completely with King George's wishes as exclusively outlined by Universal Service yesterday.

School Children Raise Fund for "Old Ironsides"

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Washington's public school children are raising a fund for the "Old Ironsides," the famous frigate.

The result compares splendidly with those of other cities, it was stated.

The collection, brought to the schools in the chubby hands of 60,000 boys and girls as their part in the drive to restore the historic frigate Constitution, averaged five cents for each child.

Thousands of the children proudly said their contributions were saved by devoting themselves to a coveted bit of candy or earned by running errands.

Private and parochial school contributions are expected to add considerably to the total.

Fronk has been accused of "kiting" checks for a grand total of $338,000 on eight Los Angeles banks.

It is thought by the police that joy riders stole the car and after having their ride, returned the car within a few blocks of the Vickers home.

day, that there be no fight to a finish but as speedy a peace pact as possible.

Only after the general strike was called off did the King officially intervene by sending a message "to my people," in which he said:

"Although the general strike is ended it is supremely important to bring together all my people to confront the difficult situation which still remains."

"This task requires the cooperation of all able and well disposed men in the country. Even with such help it will be difficult but it will not be impossible."

"Let us forget whatever elements of bitterness have been created, only remember how steady and orderly the country is remaining though severely tested, and forthwith address ourselves to the task of bringing a peace which will be lasting because forgetting the past it looks only to the future with the hopefulness of a united people."

GREAT WESTERN POWER

COMPANY of California

Serving Bay Cities and North Central California

Away back in the hills—no road—no telephone—no electric lights. No way to get there. Or, perhaps, this family just doesn't want electricity, even though the rates in California are the lowest in America.

Only ten homes in a thousand are now like this—a percentage smaller by far than anywhere in the world.

In California, electricity has been brought to everybody's door—by publicly-regulated, popularly-owned electric light and power companies.

Public regulation means that rates are fixed by the state to cover only the cost of the service and a fair return (limited by the state) on the value of the properties as established by the state, constructed with the state's authorization, and financed by securities offered for public investment with the state's approval.

These securities are owned by many thousands of California investors. 9,000 people have already invested nearly $15,000,000 in Great Western Power Preferred Stock—largely on the partial payment plan.

MECHANICS WIN FROM BARREL HOUSE 4-1

KOGLER WELL SUPPORTED BY TEAMMATES

Corothers Makes Sensational One Hand Catch From the Bat of Fitzgerald

Dutch Kogler seems never to be at ease unless there is a man on base, then everything is rosy for him. He demonstrated that last night when his fast hitting Mechanics downed the Barrel House, 4 to 1.

Time after time, the Hon. Dutch would get a man on first base and with nobody out and then hurried himself out of the hole. Support was everything on the Mechanic's team last night. Balls hit in all directions would be safely caught by the supporting cast.

What drew the large crowd to its feet was in the sixth inning, when Corothers, who had languished in right field all day, lifted up one hand and grabbed a smashing drive that Fitzgerald slammed. The force of the drive sent Corothers rolling into the grass, but he came up, smiling with the ball grasped in his hand. It would have been a good double for Fitz, BUT—Fitz was heard to say as he walked back to the bench: "This is all very disgusting to me!"

Lefty Buttisch started on the mound for the Barrel House and for four innings pitched a wonderful brand of ball. But in the fifth he weakened and the Mechanicks slammed four bingles and gathered two runs off of him. In the sixth he was relieved by Lefty Cothran.

FIRST INNING
Mechanics: O'Rourke flies to Fitzgerald; Butler drives to Kress. Arlett out, Peters to Kress. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Barrel House: Vianni out, O'Rourke to Borton. Schimpff walked, Nelson hit by pitched ball. Fitzgerald hit into a double. O'Rourke unassisted to Borton. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING
Mechanics: Borton out, Buttisch to Kress. Bartoli flied to Nelson. Murry flied to Hutton. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Barrel House: Peters hit to infield. Kress sacrificed, Borton to Arlett. Torsen fanned. Hutton out, O'Rourke to Borton. No runs, one hit, no errors.

THIRD INNING
Mechanics: Cantau out, Schimpff to Kress. Corothers whiffed. Kogler ditto. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Barrel House: Buttisch walked. Viani flied to Murray. Schimpff popped to Butler. Nelson forced Buttisch at second, Arlett unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING
Mechanics: O'Rourke doubled to left. O'Rourke caught at third when Butler bunted. Buttisch to Peters. Butler safe. Arlett popped to Kress. Borton out, Buttisch to Kress. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Barrel House: Fitzgerald out, Arlett to Borton. Peters fouled to Bartoli. Kress safe when O-

Rourke muffed his fly. Kress steals second. Torsen scored Kress with a single to center. Hutton forced Torsen at second. O'Rourke to Arlett. One run, one hit, one error.

FIFTH INNING
Mechanics: Bartoli doubled to center. Murray singled to center. Cantau scored Bartoli with a single to right. Corothers fanned. Kogler singled to center, scoring Murray. O'Rourke whiffed. Butler forced Santau at third. Peters unassisted. Two runs, 4 hits, no errors.

Barrel House: Buttisch struck out. Vianni out, Kogler to Borton. Schimpff flied to Corothers. No hits, no runs, no errors.

A meeting of the Richmond Tennis club has been called for Monday night in the Chamber of Commerce building. It is announced by Miss Helen Gately, vice president of the club. NEW RULES
The Pacific Coast conference has adopted a new ruling in regard to college baseball players playing with semi-pro teams during the vacation period. Now a white and black list will be kept, and those who are on the white list may play with their schools when they return from their vacation, but those who are on the black list will be barred from the games with their schools.

BRITISH GOLF
A formal announcement has been made that the Walker cup golf championship matches will be played in Great Britain. After a conference, however, the American players granted their rivals a breathing spell of a week in which to decide whether they would hold the British amateur championship in which all Americans are entered.

O. A. L. RACE
Fremont high school took its eighth victory in the Oakland Athletic league ball race by a score of 2 to 1 from the Technical high school. Fremont has continued its lead in the race, while Tech is tied with Oakland for second place in the race.

CHICK EVANS
We are wondering what happened to Chick Evans, the famous American golfer, whose name has been on the tongue of all American players since the game was new in the United States. Evans, the greatest old man of the game, was left off of the list of players to compete in the Walker cup matches in England. It might be that business kept him from entering the matches, but yet, no one knows what has happened.

TEX TO BUILD ARENA
Tex Rickard announced yesterday that he has completed plans for a two million dollar outdoor stadium that he expects to build and have open next summer. Tex declared that the public demands a suitable arena for collegiate football, professional soccer and major events with a suitable seating capacity for 10,000 spectators.

ANOTHER ONE TO BE SHIPPED
The Seattle ball club has announced that Harry Lee, a pitcher, will be shipped to the Omaha club of the Western League, he will remain there for the rest of the season. Lee refused to return to that club but an agreement was reached.

Machinery Great Aid to Industry Says Sec. Hoover

WASHINGTON, May 12.—America, through labor saving machinery, is taking gigantic strides in national efficiency, Secretary Hoover of the commerce department, declared to the United States chamber of commerce delegates at their annual dinner tonight.

"Making of the machinery sweat," instead of the workman's sweat, produced astounding results in the last quarter of a century, he declared, adding, "I hesitate to express it statistically lest we appear to exaggerate."

Use of electric power has jumped from 12 billion horsepower 15 billion horsepower, Hoover said, continuing:

"While we have increased our manufacturing employees 65 per cent in the last quarter of a century, we have swelled productivity about 170 per cent."

"Our farms produce 37 per cent more with 20 per cent more farmers. Our railroads carry 70 per cent more traffic with only 61 per cent more men."

"And, with all, we have decreased in 25 years the weekly hours of labor about 9 per cent, while real wages have increased 40 to 50 per cent."

"We have added the automobile, the good road, the movies, the radio and the phonograph directly to the standards of living."

"Some say that in all this we are degrading the soul of man by machine production and standardization."

"I may observe that the man has a standard automobile, a standard radio, and 1-1-2 hours less average daily labor is more of a man and has a fuller life and more individuality than he has without them."

"There is great hope that America is finding herself upon the road to a solution of the greatest of all her problems. That is, the method by which social satisfaction is to be attained with the preservation of private industry; or initiative, and a full opportunity for the development of the in-

Revolution in Poland Threatened by General

Witos, who has only just been named at its head, hostilely held an extraordinary cabinet session this evening and proclaimed a state of siege. It called upon the army to remain loyal and is now endeavoring to enroll volunteers. The government announced it would defend the constitution.

Pilsudski, according to latest advices, is negotiating with President Wojciechowski in an effort to avert civil war. Back of Pilsudski stand seven thousand men ready to march on Warsaw to join him.

The Marshal's slogan is "Against corruption," and "for clean government." His movement is against an impotent and alleged corrupt parliament, along the lines of the Italian Fascist lines, with a growing sentiment for a monarchy in Poland in the background.

The revolt of a portion of the Polish army, which began with a mutiny of the garrison at Rembertow today, and the extent of which could not be clearly seen at six o'clock this evening, came as a surprise to the watching developments in Poland.

The old Kingdom of Poland broke up and disappeared chiefly as a consequence of internal dissensions. The country today has reached almost a similar stage.

The tangle of the political parties has created difficulty in keeping any government together on a parliamentary basis.

It is alleged that there is vast corruption with a financial crisis, and finally that the army is divided into three groups, a Russian-Polish section headed by Pilsudski, who has fiercely been assailing the Austrian-Polish generals headed by General Haller, and the so-called German, or Posen-Polish section of the army, which is against both the other groups.

Premier Witos yesterday suppressed a newspaper containing an interview with Pilsudski, in which he demanded that the ministries of war and foreign affairs be taken out of politics and declared war on corruption in the government.

Last night thousands of posters appeared on the streets of Warsaw, declaring: "We will not let Poland be plundered. Long live Commander-in-chief Pilsudski!"

"At today's business session governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland in a ringing speech told the delegates that big business has only itself to blame for governmental interference, because it has not kept its own house in order and regulated its own affairs."

Golf Match to Be Played Here

A golf match that is expected to draw a record audience will be played at the Carquinez club links tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 when Fred X. Fry, foremost Oakland pro, and J. E. Durand, manager of the Carquinez club, will meet Charlie Shepard, club professional and H. T. Allen, steward of the club in a forenoon.

Everyone is invited to see the match. No charge will be made for the gallery.

Comedian Has Own Version Of the Strike

"There's no cowardice in the English workers. They could have blown up half this town and destroyed the railroads, but they have acted fairly and saved the country a terrible lot of money."

"The fact that it was a quiet strike is to the credit of the workers. The government fellows couldn't have raised a row anyway."

"Over home, if five hundred men had been on strike they would have killed that many."

"I hope these British workers will get a darned square deal, for they have a lot to recommend them."

"The government hollered 'revolution,' but there never was a revolution. The men were only trying to get more money, which everybody in the world tries to do all the time, whether they are business men or anybody else."

"It takes a game fellow to get up and say: 'I'm licked, and that's all there is to it.'"

"I hope these British workers will do it."

BERLIN WRITES SONGS ABOUT EXPECTED EVENT

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, May 12.—Clarence Mackay is about to become a grandfather again.
This jealously kept secret new became known only today, and immediately hundreds of congratulatory messages poured in on Irving Berlin and his bride.
The happy event is expected before the end of the summer. Preparations already are being made and nurses have been engaged.
Nothing whatever has been told Clarence as yet, but intimate friends of the family expect that the event will be the signal for a full reconciliation between Mackay, his daughter Ellin, and his son-in-law, Irving Berlin.

The young couple, who had intended to return to the United States at the end of the summer, have now altered their plans in favor of remaining in Paris until Christmas.
Although born in Paris, the Berlins' child will have American nationality.
While Irving and Ellin decline to be interviewed on the subject, their friends report that the song wizard said: "I am the happiest man in the world." And under the stress of his first paternal emotion composed two new songs, dedicated to motherhood, which are said to make a new departure from his well-known style, inasmuch as they contain less jazz and have a novel touch of southern sentimental melody, surpassing in beauty any of his previous compositions.

Italy Joyous Over Success Of Expedition

ers have attempted to throw doubt on the claim of Commander Richard E. Byrd and his pilot, Floyd Bennett, that they flew over the pole in the Fokker airplane, the "Miss Joanne Ford," the really important newspaper, backed by the intelligent public, supported Captain Byrd. Amundsen's declaration that the two Americans were the first to place the American flag at the pole by air, where Peary placed it after his most perilous journey through and over the ice.
It is agreed that the famous Norwegian explorer never showed to better advantage than when he made this declaration.
"Byrd has achieved his aim to reach the pole. We have our aim to fly to Alaska by way of the pole will be successful."
Americans here are joining in hearty congratulations of Amundsen and Noble. They rejoice that Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Amundsen's American aide, placed the stars and stripes alongside the Norwegian and Italian flags at the pole. Old Glory had been placed there previously by Peary and Byrd.

S. O. Employee Hurt in Crash
Harry Fox, 32, 1929 Precita avenue, San Francisco, a district superintendent of the Standard Oil company sustained injuries in an automobile accident yesterday. Fox was driving a Buick sedan when it was struck by a car from the Memorial hospital in San Mateo. Fox was alone in a closed car at the time of the accident and it said to have stopped to allow a north-bound train to pass. He started his car as the last coach was passing and drove directly in front of the speeding liner.
According to reports from the hospital, Fox is suffering from internal injuries, several broken ribs and fractures of both legs. It is feared that he may not live. His machine was carried down the track a distance of several hundred feet and was totally wrecked.

Lectures by Noted Psychologist Are Well Attended Here

Eugene R. Dukette, Ph. D., LL. B., noted psychologist who opened a series of six free lectures at the Richmond Club Tuesday evening was enthusiastically welcomed by a large and appreciative audience. Dukette, who is an easy, fluent speaker, held the eager attention of his listeners for over an hour, while he disclosed in simple terms some of the great fundamental laws of the human mind and demonstrated by many examples how they operated to bring success or failure to the individual.
Dukette said, "The restless, discontent and vague yearnings which we feel in the spring and which urge us to travel, or change our occupation is caused by our failure to respond to the urge of nature which expresses itself so strongly at this time of the year to expand and grow. Our refusal or inability throughout ignorance or misunderstanding to answer this call of nature tends to make us rapidly lose the zest of life and grow, while still young, old and decrepit." He said, "as long as your mental visions continue to broaden and grow old age cannot approach you. Clearly the secret of youth then, is to keep on growing."

Smith to Run For President
By WILLIAM E. LAWBY
ALBANY, N. Y., May 12.—Governor Smith Openly has become a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination in 1928. While he has made no formal or public announcement to this effect, has avowed candidacy was disclosed today when it was learned that he was standing with his full approval the move to bring about the abrogation of the two thirds and unit rules in the democratic convention in 1928.
Decision to support the proposal of Clyde Herring, national committeeman of Iowa, to effect the abrogations, was reached last Sunday in an all day conference at the executive mansion between the Governor and national committeemen Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo and Edwin Corning, democratic state chairman.
Following this conference Mack and Elizabeth Marbury, national committee woman for New York state, telegraphed Herring pledging their support in his fight for the abrogations.
The next move in this state will be to have the state democratic committee at its meeting in New York City early in June pass a resolution endorsing the stand of the governor, Mack and Miss Marbury and memorializing the national democratic committee to put through the abrogations. This is the procedure that was followed in Iowa.
However, it will depend on the convention itself as the two thirds and unit rules can only be abrogated by a two thirds vote of the convention.

Natural Death is Verdict of Jury

Death caused by acute and mild obstruction of the heart, contributed to acute indigestion, natural causes, was the verdict returned by the coroners jury as to the cause of the death of Harry H. Herring at Antioch.
Herring was found dead at the wheel of his powerful speed boat in a cove in lower Sherman Island by a party of searchers on Monday.
Herring had been a figure in speed boat circles on the San Joaquin river for the past twenty-five years.
